

navreme's executive is awarded title „certified management consultant“
Conferral ceremony takes place in Salzburg on 21 June at Constantinus Gala
(Vienna, 20 June 2007)

For his work with navreme, Bernd Baumgartl PhD was awarded the title „certified management consultant“ (cmc) by Incite, an organisation under the Chamber of Commerce's section for consultants "UBIT". After the selection as Constantinus Winner (best young entrepreneur) 2003, this award was conveyed to navreme via a fast track. A sample of projects from portfolio of more than 100 assignments, executed across Europe (in and outside the EU), and feedback by satisfied clients in the public sector, were examined by the Chamber's experts.

During the 5th gala of awarding the Constantinus to successful enterprises, also certificates on CMC-titles are distributed. Potential clients are re-ensured that CMCs provide services which are based on thorough method and profound experience. CMC is becoming a internationally recognized global quality label, which is awarded in 40+ countries. According to "incite", CMCs provide top quality which is corresponding to international standards. The certificate not only documents broad professional qualifications, but is awarded only to those consultants with high social competences and special skills in process management. However, navreme is amongst a minority of consulting organizations, which work predominantly for the public sector – in particular in Austria.

"Consulting is not only requested by the private sector", explains navreme's executive Bernd Baumgartl. "The EU, international organizations and international NGOs also require qualified expertise, advise and evaluation. Recently also Austrian public authorities have started to make use of external experts, and commission independent evaluations. This is a healthy development to increase good governance and transparency".

navreme (in Slavic languages: „at the right time“) works through a sustainable network of collaborators in the EU and its neighbourhood. On the basis of projects and assignments, international teams implement research, consulting, evaluation and training in the public sector. Jointly with British, German and Italian partners, it advises the European Commission under a framework contract. Further clients include national Ministries, international organizations, Council of Europe, World Bank and UN.

The navreme network has nodes in Vienna, Prague, Skopje, Ankara and Bucharest, and runs a virtual university in Second Life.
